Important Point: Repairs are normally done during the daytime. Finding lights that are not working can be extremely difficult for our PSE&G Lamp Inspectors. The location is of primary importance! Pole numbers are extremely helpful and expedite the repair of the street lamp, especially in parking lots where there are many lights. If a pole does not have a number, the nearest pole with a number is useful, i.e., 1 pole south of pole #12345. Much time and frustration is spent checking each individual light to find the defective one, therefore a detailed geographical location is needed.

Thank you for helping us to quickly repair your lights!
